The New York Social Centre Committee perently organized to promote the wider se of the city's public schools, began last night by giving a dance for the young people of the East Side in the court yar Public School 63 at Fourth street and First avenue. This is the first time that public school building in this city has been opened for such a purpose, and the Social Centre Committee hopes to demon strate so successfully to the Board of Education the propriety of using a school building for the benefit of those who live around it that the board will consent to throw open all the school buildings in the city as neighborhood clubhouses

The building of No.83 is to be used by the committee as an experiment station They are going to encourage the East Siders to make the schoolhouse their headquarters for everything in the way of a gathering. Any society can be sure of a place to meet in the building on any night, and there will be no charge for the use of the rooms. Already a dramatic society that has been in existence for at ast six years in the neighborhood has an orchestra of forty young people practises in the building at least once a week.

The Social Centre Committee expects to work in cooperation with the Board of Education through Dr. Edward W. Stitt, district superintendent of recreation The committee has ractically taken up for the summer the work of Dr. Stitt and his helpers, since the Board of Education has no appropriation for recreation centre activities after the month of May. The committee consists of Joseph M. Price, a coffee importer with offices at 192 Broadway. chairman; John Collier of the Peoples Institute: Arthur W. Dunn, secretary of an incentive to them to merit transfer the Public Education Association; John to it. L. Elliott, headworker of the Hudson Guild; Elizabeth Frank of the Nurses Settlement, Luther H. worker of the Union Settlement.

Mr. Price, who with other members of the committee came to look on a while at the dancers last night, had something to say about the plans of the committee.

"We want to persuade the Board of Education that the public school plant which represents an investment of millions of dollars of the people's money ought to be used every minute of the day for the good of the people. We don't expect the board will place many obstacles in four way, for already they have expressed a desire to do everything possible to help ais.

"The Neighborhood and Civic clubs. which have been using this school building for some time with the permission of the board, will eventually take over this work, and leave us tree to extend our activities. Those two clubs are now furmishing the management for these dances."

If all goes well the dances in the open courtyard will be held every Friday night. Anybody over 16 can become a member of the dancing club by asking for a membership card and by baying five cents a bership card and by paying five cents a week dues toward the expenses of the dances. Anybody who doesn't see fit to behave and goes to spieling or trotting forfeits his chance to dance again.

Prisoners Not Even Shackled in Transfer From Auburn to Great Meadow.

ALBANY, June 7 .- The successful transfer of twenty-six convicts, unshackled and in the custody of only two guards, from the State prison at Auburn to the Great Meadow prison at Comstocks. Washington county, a distance of more than 200 miles, marks a new era in the administration of the taken up quarters at the schoolhouse, and penal institutions of the State, and is additional proof of the efficacy of the methods which Col. Joseph F. Scott, State Superintendent of Prisons, has introduced in their management.

The achievement is unique. It indicates the possibilities in dealing in a thoroughly humane way with men who are serving terms in State prisons.

upon the entire prison system of the State. The transfer of twenty-six men without shackles and with only two attendints is cited by officials as the latest demonstration of the influence which prospect of confinement there exerts upon the men in the other State prisons.
